IV. Explanation

The Park District will develop a 2.27 acre vacant site adjacent to the Chicago Housing Authority's Rockwell Gardens into a new outdoor active recreation park within Chicago's Near West Side Community area that has a growing residential population. The new park was part of a land exchange with the CHA that was previously approved by the Board on August 13, 2008. Before transfer, W. Adams Street was legally vacated between S.Rockwell Street on the north and S. Maplewood Street on the south creating the contiguous footprint for park development.

The newly developed park will include a state of the art flagship playground that will service the immediate local community and regional community at large. Features of this playground include challenging, interactive playground equipment, rubberized soft surfacing with varied topography throughout the active play areas, drinking fountain, seat walls and picnic tables. The park elements include fencing, pedestrian pathways, a walking trail with exercise equipment stations, landscaping - ornamental and shade trees, sod and shrubs, lighting and all underground utilities.
